

SECTION – A – READING COMPREHENSION

(6-10) Read the following passage carefully.

A teacher is the builder of a nation. So he should know needs of the country. India needs young men who can reform the society. They should remove differences and distinctions among the people. Teachers should make their pupils unselfish. An ideal teacher should not stick to the subject he teaches. He should take the children away from the subject. He should teach them the ways of life. He should prepare them to face the problems of life.

A teacher should be affectionate. He should understand the problems of children. If he rules with a rod, children will not like him. They will not take interest in the subject. A child can be won only with affection. A good teacher should never discourage a child. Some children take the criticism of the teacher to heart. The child loses confidence. Such a child can never make progress in life.

The emperor of China had sent some peaches to the king of Tondmandalam with a note stating that the fruit gave long life to anyone who ate them. As the fruits were being shown to the ruler, Raman, the Minister of the king, giving into temptation, picked up one of the luscious peaches and bit into it.

The king was enraged. "You've bitten into a fruit meant for me!" he thundered, "for this you must die!"

As Raman was taken away by the royal guards he signed dramatically and exclaimed, "What a deceitful man the Emperor of China is! He says the fruit gives long life. I took just one bite and I'm about to die. Oh! What a fate awaits the one who eats the entire fruit!"

The king was greatly amused by Raman's wit. He pardoned him. He gave him a dozen of peaches he had risked his life for.
